Hi Trish, hope your Wednesday is going well.

You probably are aware, but there's a court hearing scheduled for this afternoon in the hit-and-run case that got a lot of attention late last year after CBS published body camera footage from the incident. I'm hoping you'll be able to provide the status of the internal investigation involving the officers' conduct. Is that investigation ongoing? If it's closed, were the officers cleared of wrongdoing or was discipline imposed?

Hoping to get this info by 5 p.m. today.

Thanks very much,

Kate Mather

Hi Trish,

I talked to our photo staff, and they are concerned about the quality of the print-outs that Chief Beck gave me. If we publish them as-is, they'll just be copies of copies, and the stills won't be as clear as I think Chief Beck hopes they will be. It will be difficult for readers to see what's happening in the photos unless we have the digital copies.

I can work without the info on the body cam rollout, but if there's anything to be done about getting digital files from the still images today – even if it's not for an hour or two – please let me know.

Thanks,

Kate,

I am waiting to hear back from Commander Lopez, FID, so until he gets back to me, it's a waiting game.

I am sorry, as I know it's important,

Hi Trish,

I talked to our photo staff, and they are concerned about the quality of the print-outs that Chief Beck gave me. If we publish them as-is, they'll just be copies of copies, and the stills won't be as clear as I think Chief Beck hopes they will be. It will be difficult for readers to see what's happening in the photos unless we have the digital copies.

I can work without the info on the body cam rollout, but if there's anything to be done about getting digital files from the still images today – even if it's not for an hour or two – please let me know.

Thanks,
Kate

Hi Patricia,

Is a task force being formed, or has one been formed, to tackle enforcement of cannabis regulation for businesses and for individuals using or possessing marijuana?

If so, is any information or someone available to talk to (at a scheduled time) regarding this task force, such as who is on it and what its purpose will be?

Thank you.

I also would like to find out whether there is any other enforcement efforts around businesses that are in violation of the city's rules, since many of the businesses won't have licenses and would be subject to LA city laws prohibiting their operation starting Jan. 1.

Subject: Hansen Hills - Re: Interview

Thank you for meeting with me last month. I have some follow-up questions, including ones regarding the information Officer Munguia provided at that meeting. I have reached out to her a few times, but have not yet gotten a response on some questions. Also, I attended the neighborhood watch meeting earlier this month, but I understand Officer Munguia could not be there because of the recent fires. I am adding Captain Eskridge and others because I wanted to see if there might be a better way to get my questions answered.

Officer Munguia said that between April 2015 and November 2017, the Los Angeles Police Department received calls for service 10 times, and officers went out 19 times on their own, often at her request. Here are my questions related to those numbers:

-- I requested a copy of the print out she was holding at the meeting, but she has not yet provided it. Is this something you can provide me?

-- What are the dates of the 10 calls for service? Is this information on the printout?

-- Can you provide the geographic boundaries that was used for these statistics?

-- Can you further define the terms Officer Munguia used to describe the reasons for the calls for service? I need to refer to them in layman's terms. Officer Munguia said 5 of the calls for service were for 415 group/disorderly. Is that what is known as "disturbing the peace"? She said 3 were for 507 radio/loud music. What does that mean exactly? She said one was for 110/s possible narco. What does that mean exactly? Did someone report that people were using drugs, selling drugs, or something else? And finally there was a 390 group drinking call. Is that what it sounds like -- a caller reporting that he or she saw a group of people drinking, or is it more or is there a more specific or better description/meaning?

-- What was the result of those 10 calls? Were there citations or any other steps taken, such as arrests? When the officers responded to those calls, did they end up witnessing or citing for any of the possible violations that were reported, or of anything else that wasn't necessarily reported? Or did the officers end up not observing any crimes or violations?

-- Officer Munguia said there were 19 additional instances when she or others sent out extra patrol to the lookout point. Did any of those instances result in any citations, arrests or any other results? What did officers determine or learn when they went out to do more patrol? When did these extra patrols happen, and was it also between April 2015 and November 2017?

-- What phone numbers would members of the public have to use for them to be logged as "calls for service"? I understand that residents don't always call 911, and instead they call numbers like \(818\) 734-2223734-2223), in addition to the parking enforcement line. Do the 10 calls for service also capture the calls made to that number, and if not, how often are you getting calls to that line? What is the phone number \(818\) 734-2223734-2223) used for?

Can you also please respond to these questions related to residents' accounts of what they have seen when police respond to their area?

-- One former resident said she has seen officers respond to a report of people with helium tanks and balloons, which were being used apparently for inhaling or huffing helium to obtain a high. She said that when officers responded, they had the helium tank emptied out and returned the tanks to the owners, letting them put the tanks back into their car trunk. The former resident said she expected the tanks to be confiscated.

-- Another resident said that he has seen officers on several occasions pull out open bottles of alcohol from the cars parked at the lookout point and had them emptied out. On at least one occasion, the people with the bottles were handcuffed briefly, but then allowed to drive off. The resident felt that the officer should have ensured the person was not under the influence before driving away.

-- Residents also reported that early Nov. 26, around 2 a.m. or before, officers broke up a party taking place at 10605 Empire Drive. The residents said officers gave warnings to the organizer of the party and did some type of sobriety test on some of the attendees. What did officers determine about what was happening at this party, and did they find or strong suspect any illegal activity occurring?

-- One former resident said that when she confronted a visitor to the lookout point to ask him to leave, that visitor showed her a gun in a threatening manner. She said she told police about this incident and the police asked her where that person is, and she said, "I chased him out." She said that she did this because she felt there was not enough help from law enforcement, and she had to chase out the visitors herself. This incident is a commonly repeated story among some of the residents in Hansen Hills.

-- One current resident said that during a police response to a particularly busy night of people partying at or near the lookout point, on Oct. 12, or early Oct. 13, she and other neighbors asked police officers to write a report, issue citations or do something to that effect. She said the officers told them it was up to them whether that was something they wanted to do, and that for this area, they don't do that. And unless their captain tells them to start doing it, they will not. She then asked, "If this were Encino, something would happen, what's the difference?" And the response was, "For that area, we do, and for this area we don't. For Pacoima we don't cite or do anything about those type of violations."

-- At least two residents I've talked to strongly suspect that prostitution activity is happening in the Hansen Hills area. This is not something that is necessarily related to the lookout point, but residents cite it as among the various concerns about the overall crime level in the neighborhood.

-- Related to the previous item, residents also point to a stabbing death that appeared to be connected to a party taking place a few blocks away in Hansen Hills, that occurred October 2016, on the 12400 block of Bernadette Street. While that was not at the lookout point, residents view the party as potentially being a similar type of event to what takes place on a regular basis at the lookout point, and in other houses in the community.

-- Additionally, related to the previous item, one person I talked to who runs a community center in Pacoima said that the youth who go to that center alerted him to listings on Craigslist and Yelp advertising the lookout point as a place where they can party and use drugs or alcohol without being cited by the police. He said he worked to remove those listings, as he is concerned about minors going to that lookout point and getting into trouble. Is the LAPD aware of these listings? There also was a recent party at which the police showed up, which seemed to make an impression on the minors, or at least he hoped that it would. He does not want the kids to be around people who may be bad influences.

Questions about possible additional LAPD officer observations about the lookout point:

-- In addition to the calls for service, and the 19 proactive patrols, how many incident reports have been logged for the area around the Empire Drive lookout point? And based on those incident reports, what sort of activities are prevalent in that area?

-- Understanding that officers and captains have to make judgment calls, is the level of activity logged (whether through resident complaints or observations by the officers themselves) at the Empire Drive lookout point considered high enough and persistent enough, to warrant additional or different approaches?

-- One of the difficulties that Officer Munguia and Captain Eskridge identified, regarding enforcement, is that officers must witness the illegal activity taking place in front of them, in order to issue citations or conduct some kind of enforcement. Do the residents' accounts and any incident reports made by the officers themselves indicate that there were opportunities to issue citations, or conduct stronger enforcement, to serve as a deterrent for future activity, understanding again that it is at the discretion and judgment of the officer and there may be other considerations?

-- Since efforts first began to try to solve or address them, have the level of complaints and officer-observed incidents abated, remained level or increased at the lookout point?

Questions about vandalism at the lookout point:

-- The Northeast Graffiti Busters recorded at least 13 instances, since Jan 1, 2017, in which their graffiti removal crews have come out to the area around the Empire Drive lookout point, to "maintain" the area. Is the LAPD aware of these instances?

-- Aside from being cleaned up, how are the vandalism issues being addressed from a law enforcement point of view?

-- There is frequently trash left at the lookout point. I have taken some pictures of alcohol bottles and cannabis containers, but I couldn't identify one of them, and neither could one resident. I have attached a picture. Can you identify what that item might be?

She said the officers told them it was up to them whether that was something they wanted to do, and that for this area, they don't do that. And unless their captain tells them to start doing it, they will not. She then asked, "If this were Encino, something would happen, what's the difference?" And the response was, "For that area, we do, and for this area we don't. For Pacoima we don't cite or do anything about those type of violations."

-- At least two residents I've talked to strongly suspect that prostitution activity is happening in the Hansen Hills area. This is not something that is necessarily related to the lookout point, but residents cite it as among the various concerns about the overall crime level in the neighborhood.

-- Related to the previous item, residents also point to a stabbing death that appeared to be connected to a party taking place a few blocks away in Hansen Hills, that occurred October 2016, on the 12400 block of Bernadette Street. While that was not at the lookout point, residents view the party as potentially being a similar type of event to what takes place on a regular basis at the lookout point, and in other houses in the community.

-- Additionally, related to the previous item, one person I talked to who runs a community center in Pacoima said that the youth who go to that center alerted him to listings on Craigslist and Yelp advertising the lookout point as a place where they can party and use drugs or alcohol without being cited by the police. He said he worked to remove those listings, as he is concerned about minors going to that lookout point and getting into trouble. Is the LAPD aware of these listings? There also was a recent party at which the police showed up, which seemed to make an impression on the minors, or at least he hoped that it would. He does not want the kids to be being around people who may be bad influences.

Questions about possible additional LAPD officer observations about the lookout point:

- In addition to the calls for service, and the 19 proactive patrols, how many incident reports have been logged for the area around the Empire Drive lookout point? And based on those incident reports, what sort of activities are prevalent in that area?
- Understanding that officers and captains have to make judgment calls, is the level of activity logged (whether through resident complaints or observations by the officers themselves) at the Empire Drive lookout point considered high enough and persistent enough, to warrant additional or different approaches?
- One of the difficulties that Officer Munguia and Captain Eskridge identified, regarding enforcement, is that officers must witness the illegal activity taking place in front of them, in order to issue citations or conduct some kind of enforcement. Do the residents' accounts and any incident reports made by the officers themselves indicate that there were opportunities to issue citations, or conduct stronger enforcement, to serve as a deterrent for future activity, understanding again that it is at the discretion and judgment of the officer and there may be other considerations?
- Since efforts first began to try to solve or address them, have the level of complaints and officer-observed incidents abated, remained level or increased at the lookout point?

Questions about vandalism at the lookout point:

- The Northeast Graffiti Busters recorded at least 13 instances, since Jan 1, 2017, in which their graffiti removal crews have come out to the area around the Empire Drive lookout point, to "maintain" the area. Is the LAPD aware of these instances?
- Aside from being cleaned up, how are the vandalism issues being addressed from a law enforcement point of view?

- There is frequently trash left at the lookout point. I have taken some pictures of alcohol bottles and cannabis containers, but I couldn't identify one of them, and neither could one resident. I have attached a picture. Can you identify what that item might be?

<Marijuana CTSOB Notice.pdf>

<Marijuana Notice.pdf>

CHIEF OF DETECTIVES

NOTICE
1.8

January 1, 2018

TO: All Department Personnel
FROM: Chief of Detectives
SUBJECT: NEW CANNABIS ENFORCEMENT GUIDELINES

This Notice supersedes Chief of Detectives Notices, Indoor Cannabis Cultivations, dated July 1, 2008 and Proposition 64 Adult Use of Marijuana Act, dated August 11, 2017. The Adult Use of Marijuana Act (AUMA) was passed in November 2016 allowing for anyone 21 years of age or over to possess up to 28.5 grams (one ounce) of cannabis or eight grams of concentrated cannabis.¹ California Proposition 64 (Prop 64) allows for commercialized cannabis retail sales for recreational and medicinal use.

In March 2017, voters in the City of Los Angeles passed Measure M, which allows for commercialized sales, testing, cultivating, and manufacturing of cannabis. Additionally, AUMA has allowed the growth of up to six plants in a household for recreational use. Individuals with a physician's recommendation can possess additional plants if reasonably related to a current medical need. Recent changes in laws have also allowed a licensed delivery person or caregiver to transport cannabis from a retail location to a person who is lawfully able to possess cannabis.

Although it is legal to consume on private property, smoking or ingesting cannabis in a public place is illegal and a violation of 11362.3 Health and Safety (H&S) Code. The Compassionate Use Act does not specifically prohibit individuals with a physician's recommendation from smoking or ingesting in public, however under Prop 64, ingestion and consumption in public is an infraction regardless of whether the use is for recreational or medicinal purpose.

Additionally, the transportation of cannabis must be in a container, sealed or unsealed, full or partially empty, that is locked in the trunk area of a vehicle, similar to alcohol. The only exception is for individuals who have a physician's recommendation for medicinal cannabis and/or a State of California issued health card. Under these circumstances, sealed or unsealed containers can be in the driver's compartment but there can be no loose bud flowers. Driving while under the influence of drugs continues to be a misdemeanor in violation of 23152(f) of the California Vehicle Code. If officers conduct an investigation for driving while under the influence, and believe that an operator is impaired by cannabis or any substance other than alcohol, they should contact a Department Drug Recognition Expert.

Proposition 64 allows recreational cultivation of six plants and licensed commercial sales, among other activities. Street sales and illegal grow operations are a misdemeanor, but in some cases, it may still rise to the level of a felony if aggravated circumstances are present², theft of utilities has occurred, sales to or use of juveniles to sell, or if the location meets the criteria for 11366 H&S-Opening or Maintaining a Drug House.

DEPARTMENT OF CANNABIS REGULATIONS

In August 2017, the Department of Cannabis Regulations (DCR) was created for the purpose of issuing permits, ensuring compliance and conducting inspections of licensed cannabis businesses. All activities that relate to licensed cannabis businesses will be investigated by DCR. It is anticipated that the DCR will be responsible for conducting background checks of applicants for cannabis businesses, coordinating pre-license checks, approving licenses, and other regulatory responsibilities. Although DCR has primary responsibility for compliance and inspections of cannabis businesses, personnel from the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) may conduct their own inspections or conduct criminal investigations involving those approved locations as needed.

Note: Uniformed officers who respond to a radio call for a crime unrelated to illegal cannabis activities should handle the preliminary investigation the same as any other investigation. If the call is specifically for illegal cannabis activity, such as an indoor grow or illegal sales, uniformed officers should call the Area Narcotics Enforcement Detail (NED) to conduct the investigation.

Although DCR will have the responsibility for pre-license checks, they are not adequately staffed or trained to assume that responsibility for the first group of applicants. As a result, Commission Investigation Division will initially assume responsibility until DCR is adequately staffed. A transition plan will be created and once adequately staffed, DCR will take on that responsibility.

GANG AND NARCOTICS DIVISION RESPONSIBILITIES

Personnel assigned to Gang and Narcotics Division (GND) Cannabis Unit will be responsible for coordinating with DCR, and other city entities as well as the State Bureau of Cannabis Control and the County Department of Health. Additionally, the following responsibilities will be handled by the Cannabis Unit:

- Tracking cannabis related data and statistics
- Liaising with other City Departments, County and State agencies
- Attending meetings with other Departments and passing on information and concerns to NEDs and Patrol
- Providing training to Department employees, other City Departments and community groups with approval from the Commanding Officer
- Attending training for the purpose of disseminating information to personnel involved in cannabis enforcement activities

During business hours, GND Cannabis Unit can be contacted at (213) 833-3700 and through Real-Time Analysis and Critical Response (RACR) Division after hours.

AREA NED RESPONSIBILITIES

All Area NEDs are primarily responsible for the investigation and enforcement of illegal cannabis activities within their respective divisions, based upon the priorities set by their Area Commanding Officer. Personnel assigned to GND will be available for advice and will assist in the investigation of problematic dispensaries throughout the City. Examples of enforcement responsibilities by NEDs could include enforcement of illegal cannabis sales, cultivation, and transportation which involve other significant criminal activities such as:

- 11366 H&S- Opening or maintaining a drug house
- 11366.5 H&S- Allowing a drug house (property owner)
- 11379.6(a) H&S- Manufacture of concentrated cannabis using a volatile solvent unless pursuant to a state license (Butane Honey Oil laboratories)
- Cannabis activities involving gang crimes or nexus to organized crime
- Cannabis cases in conjunction with a federal task force
- Cannabis cases which involve the felony theft of utilities
- Cannabis activities where suspect(s) is known to be a convicted felon for a category listed as unqualified for a license or permit
- Cannabis activities where there is reasonable suspicion that suspect(s) are possibly unlawfully in possession of a firearm, that could result in felony charges (i.e. ex-con with a gun)
- Cannabis activities which involve the unlawful sales to a minor or use of a minor for sales

PATROL OFFICERS RESPONSIBILITIES

Patrol officers who observe a person smoking or ingesting cannabis products in public may cite the violators for 11362.3(a)(1) H&S on a personal service citation. If the person is smoking or ingesting within 1000 feet of a school, day care center or youth center where children are present, officers can cite under section 11362.3(a)(3) H&S.³

Patrol officers who encounter an illegal indoor or outdoor cannabis cultivation should make an effort to determine the number of plants at the grow location. The AUMA allows individuals to grow up to six cannabis plants per household for recreational use. A person may only exceed six plants if they possess a physician's recommendation and the quantity must be reasonable in order to treat their condition. If there are more than six plants, patrol officers should seek guidance from their Area NED.

SAFETY

Growing cannabis plants indoors creates special challenges which can cause respiratory difficulties. Plants that grow inside with altered or inadequate ventilation can grow powdery mildew, and growers may introduce sulfur dioxide into the air through the use of sulfur burners. The sulfur dioxide kills the mildew that is harmful to the plants but can cause respiratory complications. Additionally, many growers make efforts to increase the levels of Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) by introducing carbon dioxide into the air. Carbon dioxide is an integral part of photosynthesis for the plants, increasing THC, however it also alters the levels of oxygen in the air. Investigators must be sure to have carbon dioxide distributors turned off. Since uniformed officers will not have devices to check and measure air quality, they should avoid any extended period of time in close proximity to an indoor grow. Any time officers suspect they have encountered illegal cannabis activities involving extraction using volatile solvents, they shall notify RACR. Only the Los Angeles Interagency Metropolitan Police Apprehension Crime Task Force, Lab Squad may dismantle a suspected illegal lab.

³ There is an exception when a person is on their private property, not in public view, unless children are present and the odor can be detected.

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Investigators assigned to a NED are encouraged to use Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), which at a minimum should include an Air-Purifying Respirator, lightweight disposable overalls, protective footwear and disposable gloves. Illegal grow locations are frequently encountered with improper electrical wiring, moisture, and even standing water. Although the use of pesticides are a valid concern, research indicates the most prevalent danger is from the inhalation of toxic molds. Limited exposure duration is unlikely to produce respiratory complications. Exposure during harvest or when investigators are dismantling the plants is the time when toxic particles are most likely to be disturbed and released into the air. It is recommended that PPE always be used during that process.

CRIME SCENE

There are no crime scene exemptions for indoor cannabis growing operations, therefore, a search warrant should be acquired for the premises. Even if the property owner or resident gives consent to search, it is recommended that investigators obtain a search warrant. Photographs of the crime scene and Tactical Warrant Service Plan, LAPD Form 12.25, are required.⁴ Frequently, illicit growers of indoor cannabis bypass the electrical meter into the residence or building where the operation is located. Alterations to the electrical system may not be easily detected and should be deferred to an expert. The Department of Water and Power Revenue Security Unit should be notified at the onset of an indoor cannabis growing investigation at (818) 771-2212.

BOOKING

Booking large quantities of cannabis, in excess of 30 pounds, can be problematic. The cannabis must be taken to Forensic Sciences Division (FSD). Personnel should contact FSD's "Haz-Chem" representative prior to transporting cannabis at (323) 415-8100. The "Haz-Chem" team will assist with the proper weighing, testing, and packaging of the evidence. If the seizure is after hours, RACR should be contacted and the on-call "Haz-Chem" team should be requested. When placing the cannabis into evidence storage boxes, keep the weight to 25-30 pounds maximum. Significant seizures will result in a large quantity of boxes being used. If a large transportation vehicle is required, it is suggested that Property Division be contacted for assistance.

CHANGES IN FILING CHARGES

The changes as a result of AUMA, Senate Bill 94, and Assembly Bill 133 have made most cannabis related criminal charges misdemeanors or infractions, absent aggravating circumstances. Although some H&S sections as listed in the attached chart are wobblers, they are most likely to be filed as misdemeanors if all conditions are not met. As a result of limited resources, the Department will generally focus cannabis enforcement activities to sales, transportation, and cultivations which involve significant criminal activity or complaints of illicit activity at the facility. Unlicensed cannabis businesses which only involve a failure to obtain a license for the activity taking place will be deferred to DCR. The attached chart illustrates some significant changes to the law officers and investigators are most likely to encounter.

Should you have any questions, please contact Lieutenant II Stacy Spell, Officer-in-Charge, Gang and Narcotics Division, Major Enforcement Section, at (213) 833-3700.

Hi Capt.:

And Happy New Year! Hope you enjoyed the holiday!

We're putting together another story on the Swatting incident in Kansas, which tied back to an LA local, Tyler Raj Barriss. I'm told by the DA's office that LAPD would have a copy of the fugitive from justice warrant in the case. I was wondering if you could send over a copy? We're on a tight deadline, sorry for the late notice.

Thanks,
